Shelter seeks help in care for puppies

GLENWOOD - Hooves and Paws Rescue Inc. in Glenwood received a call about three puppies left in a box by a dumpster.

Genea Stoops, rescue founder, said that the 8- to 10-week-old puppies are safe at the shelter. However, the puppies display fear when handled and will need to be socialized before adoption.

"At this time, we are seeking donations for care of these puppies," said Stoops. "They will all need their first shots, and they will need to see the vet as soon as possible. These little ones will also need Puppy Chow if anyone is willing to donate a bag or two."

Submitted photo - These puppies, two females and one male, were left in this box near a dumpster. They are currently sheltered at Hooves and Paws Rescue Inc. in Glenwood, where they will receive veterinary care and rehabilitation before adoption.
